

ted. and Local Stitch Hotel join forces for Seoul Design Week

ted. is thrilled to announce an exciting collaboration with Local Stitch Hotel, a contemporary design-focused hotel nestled in the heart of Seoul, South Korea. ted. has worked its design magic to create a special, one-of-a-kind "ted. room" within the Local Stitch Hotel, offering an immersive experience that combines contemporary aesthetics with cutting-edge design concepts. This exclusive collaboration, set open its doors to public on October 27th, during Seoul Design Week this month, will run until November 3rd.

ted. has been actively setting up collaborations with local Korean, Dutch, and other European designers, introducing a dynamic blend of design elements. The room will also feature carefully curated art pieces that add an additional layer of sophistication to the overall design.

In an exciting twist, the "ted. room" will also include a carefully curated selection of vintage design pieces by renowned designers such as Joe Colombo, Pierre Paulin, and Mario Bellini. These thoughtfully chosen items will not only pay homage to design classics of the past but also serve as a source of inspiration for contemporary design enthusiasts.

After the exhibition period ends on November 3rd, the "ted. room" will be available for bookings, allowing guests to experience the unique design and ambiance crafted by ted. on an ongoing basis. This presents an exciting opportunity for travelers and design enthusiasts to make the "ted. room" a part of their Seoul experience.
